

Alien Insurance Companies

The Rhode Island Port of Entry Act passed in 1997 allows a foreign (non-U.S.) insurance company to become licensed in Rhode Island and, as long as it maintains its base of U.S. operations in Rhode Island, be treated as a Rhode Island domiciled insurance company for the purposes of obtaining licenses in other states.

- RI General Law